Chaining styles with a JavaScript Proxy

If you miss method chaining from Ruby or jQuery when working with styles in JavaScript, you can recreate the pattern with a few lines of code

Smoother & sharper shadows with layered box-shadows

With a simple CSS trick, we can get fine-tuned control over how shadows are rendered, and create richer and more realistic 3D effects

Read all posts

I write about design, CSS, animation, and the projects that are keeping me busy.

Projects.

SpinKit

Nobody likes to wait... but you can make it less of a pain. I've created SpinKit, an open-source collection of loading spinners animated with CSS.

Moving Letters

If you want more playful and expressive typography, I've created an open-source collection of text effects animated with JavaScript and anime.js.

Typesource

I created TypeSource as a way to browse web fonts by how they look and feel, rather by their name and attributes.

Work.

Minecraft

As the Experience Design Director for Minecraft I worked with the team at Mojang to overhaul their UI infrastructure and design and iterate on new and old Minecraft games.

Spotify

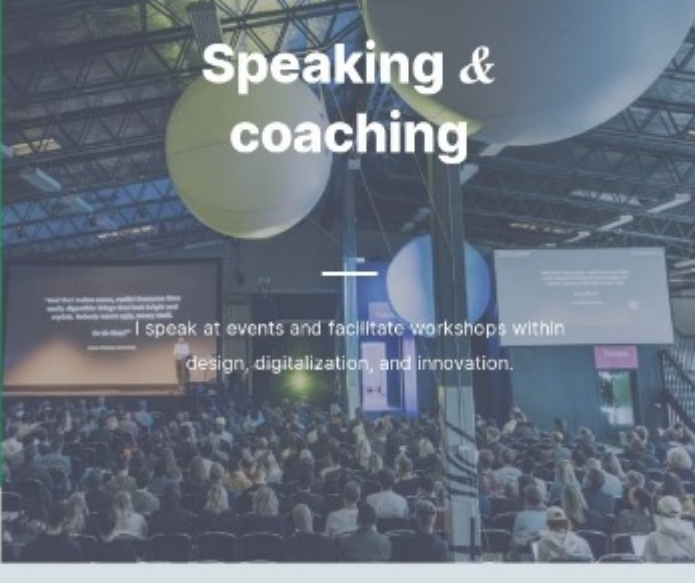

Early on at Spotify I lead the UI design for all products and worked with building the design team.

Speaking & coaching

I speak at events and facilitate workshops within design, digitalization, and innovation.

Teaching at Hyper Island

I've worked as an Industry Leader at Hyper Island for several years. I've written curriculums, managed courses, and taught programming, design, statistics, data strategy, and rhetorics.

Lookback

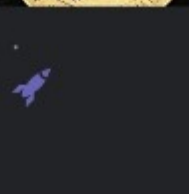

At Lookback I made it easier to conduct user research for digital products.

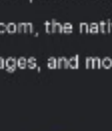

Swedish Design Awards

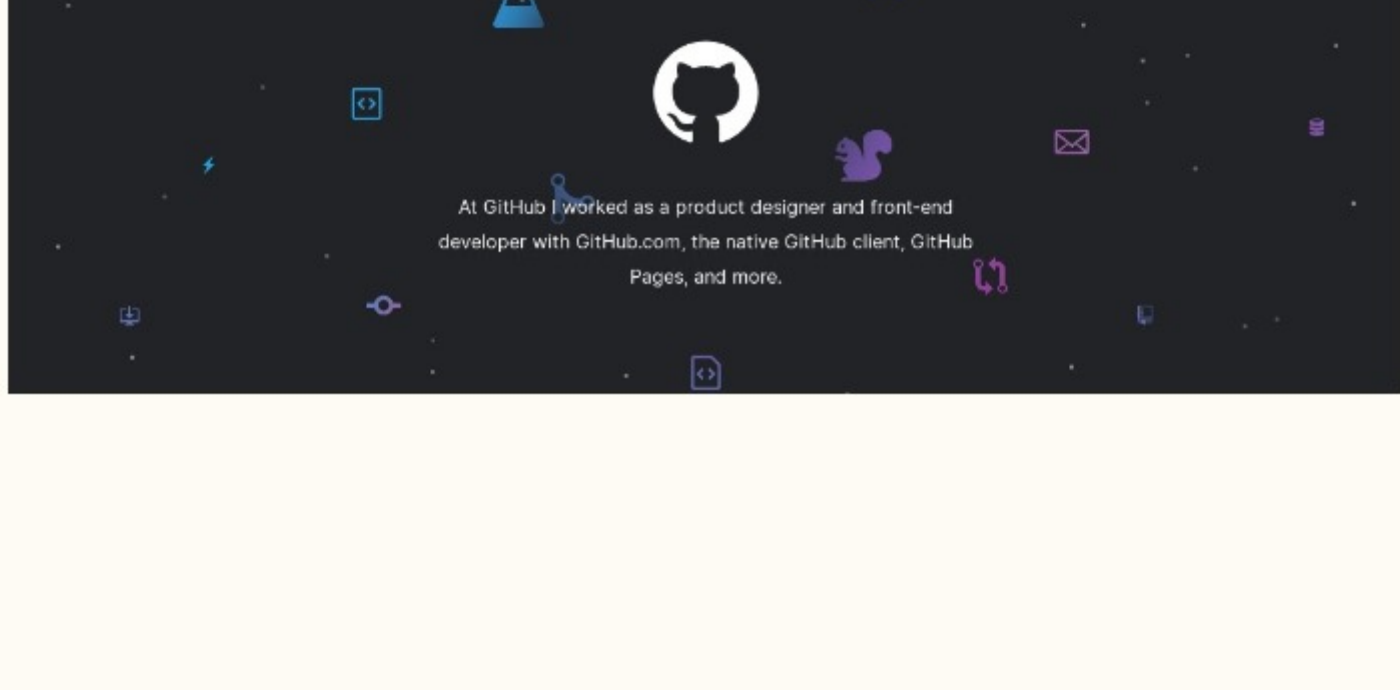

I'm a jury member for the Swedish Design Awards (Svenska designpriset), working with all digital categories.

GitHub

At GitHub I worked as a product designer and front-end developer with GitHub.com, the native GitHub client, GitHub Pages, and more.

Open for opportunities: Yes

Hi there, I'm Julia.

Front End Developer,

Student, and intern at IBM.

I'm a 21-year-old student at Purdue University currently studying web development and design.

As I've grown as a developer, I've worked alongside senior designers and developers who have raised my standards for what's expected of any web application.

Through these experiences, I've had the opportunity to create memorable products that are not only enjoyable to use but are written in code that's maintainable and easy to understand.

My Skills

Through my studies, I've gained a solid understanding of computer science and web development concepts, and have dedicated a lot of my free time to apply these concepts to real-world scenarios and applications.
